Speaker's Biography:

Alison practiced law for 25 years as a civil litigator solicitor. She founded and, as Managing Partner, successfully ran for 13 years a niche personal injury legal practice until illness struck. After recovering from a 6 year illness Alison retrained as an Executive Coach and currently operates a portfolio career incorporating Executive Coaching (clients include Indian Government, Cambridge Judge Business School, Magic Circle legal firms & individual lawyers) training & facilitating (clients include Ministry of Defence & Help for Heroes,) and Non-Executive Directorships in the social housing and counselling sectors.

“Coaching has given me much needed direction and focus. Alison has enabled me to identify and define goals in way that I have never done before. I now have a clear plan that I am determined to deliver on and I genuinely feel that I will now achieve my goals. I wish I had had coaching at an earlier stage of my career”

Emma – Senior in-house Lawyer for an international publishing company (Law Society Women's Law Division coaching pilot)

“Six months ago I was confused about where I would take my career. Alison asked really insightful and deep questions which have required me to really look closely at myself but have enabled me to come up with solutions. Coaching has forced me to think through things which I might otherwise have avoided. Coaching has given me much needed direction and focus. Alison has enabled me to identify and define goals in way that I have never done before. I now have a clear plan that I am determined to deliver on and I genuinely feel that I will now achieve my goals. I wish I had had coaching at an earlier stage of my career” Emma – Senior in-house Lawyer for an international publishing company (Law Society Women's Law Division coaching pilot)
